LOCAL GOVERNMENT AREAS

AREA, DWELLINGS, AND POPULATION

SOUTH AUSTRALIA

CENSUS 30TH JUNE 1961

This bulletin shows the area, the number of occupied and unoccupied dwellings, and the population, in each Local Government Area and Statistical Division in South Australia at each of the last three Censuses. The 1961 figures for population and dwellings were derived at a late stage in the processing of Census returns and very little, if any, amendment is anticipated.

Table 1 summarises details of population and of occupied and unoccupied dwellings in Statistical Divisions.

Table 2 gives details of area and dwellings.

In some cases changes in area resulted from alteration of boundaries and in others from re-survey or re-assessment of areas as development necessitated a more detailed examination of particular localities. For 1947 the area of each Local Government Area is listed, but subsequently an area is shown only where a change has occurred.

In general, a "dwelling" means any habitation which is occupied, or is intended for occupation, by a household group living together as a domestic unit, whether that habitation comprises the whole or only part of a building. Thus "dwellings" include such units as single-roomed huts and multi-roomed hotels as well as houses and flats.

Table 3 shows population - males, females, persons - and masculinity of population at each of the three Censuses. "Masculinity" is defined as the number of males per hundred females. During the period covered by this bulletin, particularly from 1947 to 1954, there were significant changes in masculinity of population within particular areas and in South Australia as a whole.
